PROFILE

I am a Senior Software Engineer and Lead Developer at WPPOOL with 6 years of experience building production grade WordPress themes, plugins, unique Google Sheets integrations with WordPress, WooCommerce solutions, and AI powered automation tools used across 20,000+ live stores. During my first year at WPPOOL, I worked closely with QA and customer support, gaining hands on experience in testing, troubleshooting, debugging, and understanding user needs. This experience has played an important role in shaping my approach to building reliable, user focused products.

Furthermore, I serve as the Full Stack solo lead developer of WPAzleen, a software brand built around the vision “Innovation in Code.” It focuses on developing AI native products and practical software solutions.

Beyond software development, I have experience in video editing with Filmora, graphic design using Adobe tools, and developing open source projects with Laravel and Python.

Currently, I am deepening my expertise in Retrieval Augmented Generation (RAG) pipelines, autonomous AI agents, Model Context Protocol (MCP) tooling, and AI skill generation. My focus is on applying these technologies to build practical, production ready AI capabilities and integrating them directly into modern software solutions.
